NATURAL DIGNITY.

The strikers on the New York Central Railroad certainly deserve credit for the manner in which they have conducted themselves in this movement. Quite independently of the right or wrong of the strike, independently of the expediency or inexpediency, it is clear that these workmen have not had recourse to violence either in word or deed. They have maintained a dignity which reflects favorably on the manliness and commo sense of the American workman.

Mr. Powpenly's letters to Third Vice President WEBB are calm, clear and strong. "You may feel that you are right, the men may feel that they are right; both are partisans, and if an impartial verdict is to be reached impartial men must arrive at it by hearing both sides and then judging." These are Mr. POWDERLY'S words to Mr. Wenn, and they express the point involved very exactly.

Mr. WEBB assures Mr. POWDERLY that no one of the employees discharged was discharged because he was a Knight of Tabouchers, the clitor. Nearly all the men in Labor. If the New York Central dis- public life in England, except Mr. Gladstone, charged these men for cause no reasonable man would take exception to its course. Arbitration would settle the matter with an assurance of justice, and views to the public, which is a largely interested | Suffrage law. party to the dispute, would be relieved of the present strain.

Mr. Wrnn would do wisely to submit the question to arbitration.

LET IT BE NOT REFEATED.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the example of the man who first utilized the Washington Bridge as a suicide's jump ing-off place yesterday is not to be followed by others from the ranks of despair

French suicides thrust upon the old column in the Place Vendome in Paris.

The bridge is a difficult place to thor oughly patrol with a view to prevent such rash acts. There is ample opportunity for the suicidally inclined, who have the necessary determination to take the 190. foot plungs; but if die they must, let them be generous, choose other means of destruction and scare us the association of a poble piece of man's work with dark and troublous thoughts of man's fatal weakness.

RIGHT.

It seems to demand apology when a judge is praised for doing justice and not iniquity. But there are many abuses which are practised under specious pleas and to detect and punish these promptly is creditable even to the just judge Many of the small lawyers who hang around the police-courts and pounce on prisoners to exort retainers and fees are a Bulsance.

Justice Power, in the Harlem Court, yesterday obliged a lawyer to return $25 to an insane man who had been found in the street. Because a man is a prisoner he does not forfeit all his rights, and those which he has are as strong as those of the most upright citizen and merit protection. The Police Justices will do well to imitate Justice Powre's example and repress this muleting of prisoners.

In fact, Miss Temple-ton's tights looked as though they could have supported the Eiffel Tower, the Worns Building or a Colossus of Rhodes. Her advisors had been distinctly at fault. A dress nore unpardonably vulgar or more extents sly coarse could not have been devised for a first appearance. It handleapped Miss empieton's efforts very seriously, and later in the evening, when her costumes were really artistic and pretty, the memory of this atrocious get-up marred their effect.

Miss Templeton is no longer fascinating. The bright eyes that were once her choicest eature are asked to light up too much Fay. and consequently lose their effect. She has a "variety" expression of face and the demeanor of maturity. Some people can wear is demeanor gracefully, as for instance Seilie Fairen and Horence St. John. But liss Templeton rebels at its invasion. During the evening, however, her Spanish dance was very neatly done, in charming octume, and towards the end of the performance a song with Edwin Stevens, en-
